To Whom It May Concern:

Comment Numbers of proposed classes of works: 3, 5 (Smartphones / Tablets, and Video Game Consoles)

As the end user of many personal computing devices (no different from a PC, really) I believe I have the right to access and run software of my choosing. Personal computing devices should be similar to PC's in that I can run many different operating systems and applications. Customizing a device I own should not be illegal.
